March 25, 2013

Dear Parents and Community Members:

Roscoe Collegiate ISD is excited to be a member of the Texas High Performance Schools Consortium (The Consortium). After an application process, the Texas Commissioner of Education announced in September 2012 that our district would join 22 other districts from across the state of Texas to develop high priority learning standards, meaningful assessments and a community-based accountability system that is not over-reliant on high stakes testing.

The Consortium is charged with making a number of recommendations to the governor, legislature and commissioner of education that will be designed to make schools stronger so that our students are prepared to succeed in post-secondary education settings and the workforce.

We are committed to providing you with all of the information, resources, and updates necessary to keep you apprised of the work of The Consortium. On the link provided above, you will find a Consortium Overview, Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ) document, reports related to the Consortium, Consortium Members School Districts, and legislation associated with the Consortium. As more information becomes available, we will share it by means of this webpage. Link: THPSC Website

Thank you for your support in our district's effort to create student-centered, future-ready schools. I look forward to the innovative work of the Consortium and this first step in our continued partnership with the legislature to provide a better, brighter future for the public school students of Texas.

Sincerely,
Kim Alexander, ED.D.
Superintendent of Schools
